Hard Rain in Fourth Inning Made Field Heavy for Play.

BULLETIN
Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Jesse Haines' clever pitching enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to win the third game of the world series here today 4 to 0. The big pitcher who held the Yankees to five hits, also drove in two runs with a home run into the right field bleachers in the fourth inning.

Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—(AP)—A fresh downpour of rain stopped the third game of the world series today with the Yankees at bat in the fourth inning. The crowd in the bleachers were thoroughly drenched.

It came down in torrents with little warning and the infield was a quagmire before workers could start to unfold the tarpaulin while thousands of spectators in the uncovered areas of the stands were soaked. It looked like only a brief shower, with skies lightening up again, but the field was in doubtful condition for a continuance of play even if the lessening rain stopped altogether.

Haines had just opened the Yankees half of the fourth with a sharp single to center and advanced to second on Meusel's grounder to Haines when the storm broke accompanied by thunder.

Just as the workers got the infield partly covered, the sun broke through the clouds. The umpire came out for inspection and immediately ordered the covering removed.

The rival teams were in a scoreless deadlock at the time, although the Cardinals had threatened to score in each of their first three turns at bat.

Cards Threatened
Southworth singled with one out for the Cardinals in the first after Douthitt had flied out, but Hornsby and Bottomley could not get the ball out of the infield.

Hafey doubled with one out in the second and was left at third when O'Farrell and Thevenow went out. Haines scratched a single to open the third and took second when Douthitt walked. Both advanced on a sacrifice, but Hornsby fouled and Bottomley went out to Combs.

The Yankees made their first threat when Dugan singled in the third. He was sacrificed by Severid, but Reuther flied out and Koenig rolled to Bottomley after Combs drew a pass.

Both Reuther and Haines were working the corners. Both were frequently in the hole, but had passed one batter each.

First Inning
YANKS—Haines used nothing but a fast ball as he started pitching to Combs, and he kept it close to the batter. Hafey took Combs' fly after misjudging it in the sun. Koenig struck out. Hornsby threw Ruth out at first, as Babe laughed. No runs, no hits, no errors.

CARDS—Douthitt sent a high fly to Meusel in right. Southworth singled sharply to center, hitting the first ball pitched. There was a big demonstration for Hornsby as he came up. Hornsby lined out to Lazzeri and Southworth had to race to get back to the bag. Lazzeri threw out Bottomley at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning
YANKS—Meusel flied to Southworth. Gehrig sent a high fly to Hafey. Lazzeri took a swing for a third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

CARDS—Bell whiffed, taking a hard swing at the third one. Hafey doubled to left field. Lazzeri took O'Farrell's weak roller and threw him out. Hafey going to second. Combs took Thevenow's liner. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning
YANKS—Dugan shot a single over Thevenow's head. Severid sacrificed. Haines to Bottomley. Reuther fouled to O'Farrell. Combs got a base on balls. Bottomley took Koenig's grounder and beat him to the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

sent a foul to Severid and the crowd groaned. Bottomley lined out to Combs. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning

YANKS—Not a cheer went up from the stands when Ruth lashed a single into center. Meusel threw out. Haines to Bottomley. It started to rain and the umpire gathered in the infield and after looking the situation over called time. The ground-keepers rushed upon the field, dragging tarpaulins after them. It was a heavy downpour and looked as if the field would soon become too wet for playing. After a long wait play resumed. Gehrig sent a high fly to O'Farrell. Lazzeri went out to Hornsby to Bottomley. No runs, one hit, no errors.

CARDS—Bell singled over second. Hafey sacrificed. Reuther to Lazzeri. O'Farrell walked. Bell scored when Thevenow forced O'Farrell. Lazzeri to Koenig, who threw wild to first. Haines hit the first ball pitched for a home run into the right field stands, scoring Thevenow ahead of him. Douthitt lined out to Koenig. Three runs, two hits, one error.

Fifth Inning
YANKS—Dugan sent a long fly to Hafey. Severid sent a sharp liner to Southworth. Hafey took Reuther's hot shot. The Yanks were hitting the first ball pitched. No runs, no hits, no errors.

CARDS—Southworth singled past Dugan. Hornsby singled into center on the hit and run play. Southworth going to third. Southworth scored when Lazzeri threw out Bottomley at first. Hornsby going to second. Shawkey replaced Reuther in the box for the Yanks. Koenig threw out Bell at first. Dugan made a beautiful one-handed stop of Hafey's seeming hit and threw him out. One run, two hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
YANKS—Combs singled over short. Koenig hit into a double play. Ruth walked. Bell threw Meusel out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

CARDS—O'Farrell flied to Combs. Combs took Thevenow's short fly. Haines went out Koenig to Gehrig. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning

YANKS—Gehrig singled to center. Bell threw out Lazzeri. Dugan flied to Douthitt. Bell threw out Severid. No runs, one hit, no errors.

CARDS—Douthitt fanned. Lazzeri threw out Southworth. Hornsby popped to Lazzeri. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
YANKS—Paschal walked for Shawkey and drew a balk. Combs struck out. Koenig grounded out to Bottomley. Hornsby threw Ruth out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

CARDS—Thomas went to the box for the Yanks as it again started to rain. Bottomley singled to right. Bell hit into a double play. Hafey went out, Dugan to Gehrig. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning
YANKS—Meusel out Bell to Bottomley. Gehrig singled to right. Lazzeri hit into a double play. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Kewance Millionaire's Family Public Charges

Kewance, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Less than a month ago John Cooper, Kewance, Ill., announced a nine million dollar inheritance and the gift of a $250,000 church and a $150,000 house to this city and was the object of nationwide praises. Today his wife and four babies became public charges and Kewance is rallying to their support, deserted by Cooper following his expose as the perpetrator of a hoax. They are left penniless with no visible means of support.

MEETING TONIGHT TO DECIDE DIXON ACCEPTING FRANCHISE IN PROPOSED FOOTBALL LOOP

Dixon is to be given an opportunity to become a member of a football league which is in the process of organization at the present time, and a meeting will be held at the Legion hall this evening, at which plans will be outlined. Representatives from other cities interested in the movement will be present with a view in interesting the local football fans in the revival of the popular game here. This will be held at 8 p. m. at the Legion hall, 101 N. Harrison, between 10th and 11th streets. Elgin and Aurora are among the first to be considered in the organization. Two Davenport, Iowa, teams have also made application for berths in the league. A tentative schedule has been drafted, calling for the first games to be played next Sunday. In the event that Dixon does not enter the league, one of the Davenport teams will be considered for a permanent berth in the organization. The proposition was being discussed among local fans today, many of whom will attend the meeting this evening to hear the outcome of the plans for the league.

ELK HILLS NAVAL OIL LEASE CASE IS BEING ARGUED

Supreme Court Hearing Appeal of Decision Cancelling Lease

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Oral argument by which Edward L. Doherty seeks to validate his disputed lease to the Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve in California and his contracts for the construction of the storage tanks at Pearl Harbor, continued today before the Supreme Court.

Frederick R. Kellogg was granted an hour by the court to complete the Doherty argument, which was begun yesterday at the opening of the fall term by J. Hogan, leading counsel for the oil operator. Following conclusion of Kellogg's statement, Owen Roberts and former Senator Atlee Pomerene, special government counsel, were granted one hour each in which to present their arguments for cancellation of the lease on the ground of fraud.

The long dispute, which began as the result of a senate investigation and passed through the lower courts, found a full court in attendance, but Associate Justice Stone withdrew from the deliberations because he had considered phases of the case while he was Attorney General.

Hogan contended that the $100,000 loan by Doherty to A. B. Fall, then Secretary of the Interior, approximately a year before the contracts and lease were executed, did not constitute a bribe and that Secretary Denby had acted after the Judge Advocate General of the navy had assured him of his right to do so. Government counsel contended that the lower courts of California should be sustained in their finding of fraud in connection with the contracts and in cancelling them.

Walton Victorious in Base Ball Tournament

Walton emerged from the baseball tournament at Maytown Sunday afternoon the victor in the only game played, defeating Ohio by a score of 8 to 0. Beene, who twirled for Walton pitched a no-hit game, shutting out Ohio. He was given wonderful support, but two errors being registered. Amboy forfeited its game with Maytown and the tournament will conclude next Sunday afternoon with two games scheduled. Walton is to meet Amboy and Ohio will cross bats with Maytown.

To Decide Future of Izaak Waltonians

An important meeting of Chapter No. 65, Izaak Walton League of this city will be held Wednesday evening at 8:30 at the Elks club. Several matters of importance will be discussed at this meeting and every member is urged to be present, as the future of the Dixon chapter may depend on the outcome of this meeting.

BIG SURPRISE FOR KIDS

Hey, kids! The Evening Telegraph has landed a big surprise for you! It's a new kind of bedtime story—the best we have ever printed. It's written in rhyme, is illustrated with pictures you can color, and is sure to please every child in Dixon and community. The first story will be in the Telegraph Friday and every day thereafter.

Deadly After Damp Believed to Have Taken Their Lives

BULLETIN.
Rockwood, Tenn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Two more bodies, making a total of six, were removed at 11:30 o'clock today from the Roane Iron Mining Co. mine where 25 men are believed to have perished in an explosion in Rodgers entry yesterday. Those brought out were Clarence Stevens, who had previously been identified in the mine, and his laborer, Philip Galtion. There are believed to be 22 still in the mine.

Rockwood, Tenn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The almost superhuman struggle of one miner to escape and his failure, with fresh air and safety but a hundred feet away, was revealed today as rescue crews penetrated deep into the Roane Iron Company's coal mine near here, where an explosion is believed to have taken a toll of at least 25 lives.

Apparently crawling more than 1,000 feet in an effort to reach an air hole, Clarence Stevens fell victim to the deadly "after damp" in a few minutes before he would have reached safety, members of the rescue crew which found his body declared.

The rescue crew which emerged today after several hours of exploration of the Rodgers entry where the men were trapped found two other bodies in addition to that of Stevens.

None of these three was removed. Identifications of the two bodies was impossible.

Finning four men dead nearly a mile from the scene of the terrific explosion, the rescue workers abandoned all hope of bringing out any of the others alive.

Two Saved Selves
Two other men, Will and Arthur Teague, who were within three quarters of a mile of the explosion escaped injury and gas fumes by bracing themselves when they heard the blast. They sought to rescue one of the two injured, G. E. Boles, but failed. Boles and Ebbles Davis later were found unconscious.

Anxious relatives, mothers with babies in their arms, waited at the mouth of the entry for the rescue workers to emerge. All of them brought the same discouraging reports—no life could exist within a quarter or half mile of the scene of the blast.

Rescue parties worked in shifts throughout the night clearing a passage to the dip where the men were trapped. Their work was made more difficult by cave-ins. The explosion occurred in one of the furthestmost regions of the mine, nearly three miles from the mouth of the entry and approximately 800 feet under the mountainside.

Former Disaster There
In virtually the same section of the mine the twelve men who were killed in the 1925 explosion were trapped. All of the bodies were not removed until three months later and although (Continued on page two)

DIXON TEMPLARS WILL GO TO WIS. GRAND CONCLAVE

Neighboring State to Fete Grand Commander Glen Coe

Dixon Commandery, No. 21, Knights Templar is making extensive arrangements to attend the sixty-eighth annual convocation of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Wisconsin to be held at Racine next week. On that occasion, Grand Commander Glen F. Coe of the Illinois Grand Commandery and many of the Illinois officers will be guests of honor of the Wisconsin convocation.

Dixon commandery will unite with Elgin, Waukegan and possibly Rockford in the formation of a down state battalion to attend the meeting. Chicago will send a full regiment, consisting of eighteen companies and will take four big bands. The Dixon drum and bugle corps will attend in a body. These bodies will serve as an escort to Grand Commander Glen F. Coe of this city.

The majority of the local Sir Knights will make the trip to Racine by motor, leaving early in the morning and returning at night the same day. The convocation will last three days, but Tuesday, Oct. 12, is the date that has been set aside for the entertainment of the Illinois Sir Knights. The headquarters for the Dixon Sir Knights has been established at Hotel Racine. Any who plan to make the trip are requested to notify members of the committee at once.

GIRL TURNS GUN ON SELF AS SHE IS DENIED DANCE

Rockford Miss Killed Self When Refused Permission to Go

Rockford—Life's complexities in an era of flaming youth—impetuous and headstrong—so overwhelmed 16-year-old Dorothy Barnum Youngman that she sought a solution of her troubles by firing a .25 caliber bullet through her brain Saturday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Barnum.

Angered by the refusal of her father to permit her to attend a dance she placed the pistol against her temple and pulled the trigger. Death came a few minutes later on the operating table in Rockford hospital.

Dorothy, the estranged wife of F. Youngman, of Westmoreland, was a principal in several dramatic incidents during her brief but hectic span of life.

Elopes to Freeport
First, there was the time last spring when she accompanied Youngman to a roadside near Elgin where, while he was inside purchasing sandwiches, she sped away in his automobile. Youngman, she later told police, had annoyed her. Instead of taking the road back to Rockford, however, she became confused and drove to Chicago where she appealed to police for help.

Then came her sudden elopement with Youngman. Dorothy, a sophomore in high school, left home in the morning, ostensibly to go to school. Instead, she and Youngman drove to Freeport where they were married.

Romance on Rocks
After their return home, they went to live with Youngman's parents, but their romance was brief and unhappy, she said.

So when her father urged her to come back to the Barnum home, she acquiesced—and arrangements were made to annul her marriage.

Find Girl Dying
Saturday night, Dorothy asked permission to go to a dance without an escort. Her parents objected and there was a brief argument, after which the girl walked into her bedroom and closed the door.

Seconds later, Mr. and Mrs. Barnum hear a shot and, rushing into her room, found Dorothy dying with a bullet wound in her head, above and back of the left ear and another in the right temple. Her father and a (Continued on Page 2)

Flood Bulletins

BULLETIN
Beardstown, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—One hundred city blocks in Beardstown were covered with water at noon today and the city hall, scene of Abraham Lincoln's defense of Duff Armstrong, was completely surrounded. The Illinois river gauge stood at 24.1 feet but the government forecast for Thursday to break the 1922 record.

In April 1922, the water raised to 25.1 feet, the highest it had ever gone. By Thursday this week the forecast predicted it will reach 25.2 feet.

In the face of this calamity, Beardstown is quietly building sand bag levees about its business stores, and is living largely on second floors. Mail was delivered by boat today. Mail not deliverable thus was left at the postoffice.

BULLETIN
Urbana, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—A rainfall record for September of 9.76 inches in this vicinity was announced today by the University of Illinois weather bureau. This is the highest for that month in 30 years.

BULLETIN
Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Kankakee river, the largest tributary of the Illinois river, continued to rise today, in some places overflowing its banks. The water is over the driveway in Southside Park.

The Illinois river, which empties into the Kankakee five miles above the city is over its banks and at Watseka much of the city is reported under water with the Dixie highway on the north and route 18 west leading to Gilman blocked by high water.

BULLETIN
Peoria, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The stage of the Illinois river was 22.8 feet today with the water still rising. The overflow had reached the industrial districts threatening to force suspension of work. Sand bags were used to reinforce railroad tracks in the hope of preventing washouts.

Burning Steamship Reached Port Safe

New York, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The steamship Byron of the National Greek Line which sailed from Piraeus on September 17 with 397 passengers aboard, raced into Quarantine station today with a fire raging in her hold. Apparently her passengers and crew were uninjured.

In response to S. O. S. calls when she was off Ambrose light, a city fire tug, two pilot boats and a police launch steamed to her assistance. Wireless calls to the ship asking the nature of the fire and if she was in immediate danger, were acknowledged but no details were given. The fire was reported under control at 9:30 a. m. The blaze originated in the cargo from an unknown cause.

Former Dixon Man Lost Arm, Result Gangrene

John F. Shoemaker, 211 Douglas avenue, has received word of the critical illness of his brother, Eugene Shoemaker of Los Angeles, Calif., a former resident of Dixon, who will be remembered by many. Mr. Shoemaker submitted to an operation last week for the amputation of his left arm. Gangrene infection necessitated the removal of the arm and his condition is reported to be very serious.

Office of Schools Closed Today

County Superintendent L. W. Miller and his assistant, Mrs. Allan P. Read, motored to Oregon today to attend the funeral of John E. Cross, who for the past sixteen years has served Ogle county as county superintendent. The office of the Lee county superintendent was closed this afternoon, through respect to the deceased educator who passed away at his home in Oregon, following a protracted illness.

J. A. Snyder met with a painful accident yesterday while cranking his automobile. The engine backfired, the crank striking him on the back of the right hand inflicting a painful bruise.

SALES OF HEALTH SEALS IN LEE COUNTY COMING WINTER ASSURED BY CLOSING OF CONTRACT MONDAY

The little red seals that indicate many Christmas presents of health to the stricken people of Lee County, again are to be distributed here. The sale to begin about Dec. 1. Mrs. J. M. McHenry, Correspondent Secretary of the Lee County Tuberculosis Assn., Monday signed the contract for Lee County's quota of the seals with Miss Alpha Rodenberger, Field Secretary of the Illinois Tuberculosis and Public Health Association, office.

FLOODS FROM TWO STREAMS TO MEET SOON

Hundred City Blocks There Under Water at Noon Today

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Scores of levees protecting Illinois communities from adjacent streams were guarded today against rising flood waters, while Beardstown watched the waters sweep through the broken dykes of two streams to slowly surround the city. A hundred city blocks were under water at noon today and the city hall where Abraham Lincoln as a young Illinois lawyer defended Duff Armstrong in a famous case, was flanked with surging tides.

The Illinois river, which broke through a barrier Sunday night, stood above 24 feet and continued to ascend, while the town was attacked on the other side by the waters of Lost Creek which burst last night, through the sand bags along the edge. Flood workers forecast the complete isolation of the town by tomorrow night when it is estimated the advancing waters will meet.

The Illinois river routed scores of East Peoria residents today, but the levee was thought to be safe despite fresh rainfall. Near Whitehall, shifts of men patrolled the Hill View levee and managed to plug a hole where rip rap gave way.

At Carrollton, 10,000 acres were under water after the bursting of a drainage levee. Sand bags were hurried to reinforce the structure along the river at Peoria, Illinois, where several industries were suspended.

BEARDSTOWN AN ISLAND!

Beardstown, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Before tomorrow morning Beardstown may be an island!

When the Lost Creek levee broke last night three miles east of here, the prediction was made that the flood water in Lost Creek district would touch the hard road and totally surround Beardstown within 36 hours.

This morning the partially submerged Beardstown watched the Illinois continue its rise at a rate that was enough to inspire a fear that the 150 homeless people would have more company. At 10:30 o'clock last night the river gauge read 23.9 feet. This morning it read 24.1, indicating a rise between two and three inches in nine hours.

LAKE DECATUR HIGH

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Lake Decatur was at a 615.2 foot above sea level this morning, which is 6.2 feet over the dam. It is believed the flood crest has been reached. The long approach to Rea Bridge across the upper lake is under water and practically lost. High winds Monday and Monday night did much damage to the five lake bridge approaches, and lake shore roads above the rip-rap. Flood gates have been closed.

PEORIA ENDANGERED

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Rising a foot in 24 hours the Illinois river reached a stage of 23.7 feet here this morning routing scores of river front residents from their homes in East Peoria where a fight is being waged to save a levee holding back. The levee is said to be safe though some of the hundreds of families endangered were becoming restless this morning and were preparing to move out. The river is now only nine tenths of a foot from the only nine tenths of a foot from the 1927. Rain began falling again this morning making this the ninth straight day on which rain has fallen here.

WORK TO SAVE LEVEE

Whitehall, Ill., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Night and day forces of more than 150 men were still struggling today to maintain the Hill View district levee near here and to repair the Hill View bridge. Water has broken a small (Continued on Page 2)

*President Extolls Red
Cross in Address
Monday Evening*

Washington, Oct. 5—(AP)—The success of the American people, in the opinion of President Coolidge, "has not been turned to greed or selfishness, but has been productive of generosity, benevolence and charity."

Speaking before the sixth annual convention of the American Red Cross last night in his first public address since returning, a fortnight ago, from his vacation, the chief executive declared that the work of that organization, of which he also is president, forms "only one example of the innumerable results of American idealism' and that the resources of wealth and prosperity had supplied charities in many other directions.

Organization of the Junior Red Cross among the youth of high school age was characterized as "one of the most promising of the recent developments" of the society's work.

He praised the "less well known and unspectacular services" of the organization, especially among active soldiers and sailors and war veterans."

Picnic for Republican women Thirteenth District—At Morrison.

THE BEST COUNTRY—

Such is the patriot's boast, where'er we roam,
His first, best country, ever is at home.

And yet, perhaps, if countries we compare,
And estimate the blessings which they share,

Though patriots flatter, still shall wisdom find
An equal portion dealt to all mankind.

As different good, by art or nature given,
To different nations makes their blessings even.

—Goldsmith.

Happily Surprised On 55th Birthday

Sam Yates, 717 Highland avenue, was happily surprised last evening, yesterday, Oct. 4th, being the 55th anniversary of his birthday. His children, grandchildren and old neighbors joined in the surprise and a pleasant evening was spent by all. Mr. Yates received several nice gifts. A most attractive pink and white birthday cake decorated the table.

Refreshments were served at a late hour and all departed for their homes wishing Mr. Yates many such happy birthdays.

Picnic Dinner Honored Mrs. Weaver

A picnic dinner and happy surprise for Mrs. Lee Weaver was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver, honoring Mrs. Weaver's birthday. She received several handsome gifts with the best wishes of relatives and friends. The guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Missman and son, Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Heckman and daughter, Lucille, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoyle and son, Richard, of Dixon; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Underkoffler and Miss Genevieve Oberg of Brookville.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Polsel entertained at dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Reed and two sons, and Mrs. Nora Reed of Chicago; and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brechon and baby daughter.

PICNIC FOR REP. WOMEN OF 13TH DISTRICT

The Thirteenth District Republican Women's picnic will be held Friday, Oct. 8th, at Morrison, Ill. All the republican women of Lee county are urged to attend this picnic.

Menus for the Family

BREAKFAST—Baked apples with prunes, cereal, thin cream, creamed dried beef on toast, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Creamed lima beans, tomato sandwiches, cup custards, rolled oats cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Beefsteak en casserole, creamed cabbage, head lettuce with French dressing, grapes, bran rolls, milk, coffee.

The cookies suggested in luncheon menu will be most acceptable in the school lunch-box. They are easy to make and keep unusually well if stored in a tight tin box—in a secret place. Quite small children may eat these cookies, since they are not difficult to digest and are really nourishing.

Rolls Oats Cookies

One cup light brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup lard, 1-4 cup butter, 1-2 cup sour milk, 2 cups rolled oats, 2 cups pastry flour, 1 cup seeded and chopped raisins, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Beat eggs until light, and beat in sugar. Soften shortening and beat into first mixture. Add flour, raisins, cinnamon, salt and vanilla and mix thoroughly. Dissolve soda in milk and stir quickly into mixture. Add rolled oats and mix well. Oil cookie sheet lightly and dust with flour. Spread dough on the pan as thin as possible and bake ten minutes in a moderately hot oven. Cut in squares while warm.

Or the dough can be dropped from the tip of the spoon into well oiled and floured tins. Drop about an inch apart.

Were Married Saturday in Rockford

Miss Gladys Augusta Bowles and Samuel Gookin, both of Oregon, were married Saturday at the parsonage of Trinity Lutheran church in Rockford. The Rev. H. M. Bannen officiating. Upon their return from a wedding trip the couple will make their home on a farm near Oregon. The bride has lived in Rockford for the last two years.

MEETING OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY—Mrs. J. E. Newcomb will entertain the Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian church at her home, 111 E. Boyd street Thursday at 2:30 p. m., at which time a playlet will be given by five of the ladies, "The Old and New Rural Church."

A request has come from the U. C. M. S. that each member be paid up in full at the close of each quarter. Those unable to attend and in arrears in the payment of dues, call Mrs. James Kindig, or Mrs. J. E. Reagan, and they will gladly call for the envelopes, so that the Dixon society may be up to standard in all rules and regulations, and those attending please see that they have the correct change for their envelopes to save the confusion of making change during the taking of the offering. It is hoped there will be good reports on the reading contest.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet in regular session in the church parlors Thursday afternoon at 2:30. As business of importance is to be transacted it is hoped there will be a large attendance. The hostesses will be Mesdames Austin George, John Hoffman, Anna Hubbard, Bert Hutton, Anna Hughes, Merle Hursh.

ARE GUESTS FROM ANGLETON, TEXAS

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. White of Angleton, Texas, are guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Lehman. Mr. White is Mrs. Lehman's brother.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER IN OREGON

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bender entertained friends at dinner in Oregon Sunday.

Queen Marie Coming to Land She Likes

Paris, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania arrived in Paris today accompanied by her daughter, Princess Ilena, and her son Prince Nicholas. The royal party immediately went to a hotel.

The Queen, seemingly, was happy that she was on her way to visit the United States. Coming out on the platform, she was surrounded by a crowd of diplomats representing the government of France and members of her own country's legation.

The sunshine gleamed upon the golden bobbed hair of Europe's most beautiful Queen as she graciously accepted courtesies and bouquets from those who had come to welcome her.

Princess Ilenana, who is a slim young girl, is not unlike an American coed in appearance. Prince Nicholas wore a grey top coat and an English hat with the brim turned down in front.

Queen Marie, aside from her regal status, was by far the most attractive personality on the platform. Over her bobbed hair closely cropped at the back of her neck, she wore a close fitting hat of black velvet circled with silver lace. Her coat was striking—a rich velvet, flecked with green and heavily trimmed with blue-gray fur.

Princess Ilenana, who followed her mother from the train, wore a leopard skin coat and a tan silk hat which sat on the back of her head.

REGULAR MEETING W. F. M. S. THURSDAY

The regular meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the Methodist church will be held with Mrs. J. W. Watts, 605 N. Ottawa avenue Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Initiation of officers will be held at this meeting and a good attendance is desired.

CANDLELIGHTERS AID TO MEET

The Candlelighters Aid Society will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. G. A. Ward, 111 E. Everett street. The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. A. L. Barlow, Mrs. O. L. Baird, Mrs. J. H. Bachman, Mrs. L. G. Adams.

WOMAN DANCE CRAZY

Leeds, England—At the request over Mrs. Edith Sanders the jury held she had been driven to suicide by her craze for dancing.

LONDON-TOKIO IN 5 DAYS

Tokio.—A trans-Siberian air route to open in the spring will make it possible to fly between London and Tokio in five days.

TWO DAYS ON CLIFF

Manchester, Eng.—Two young women cut off by the sea at Ilfracombe while climbing a cliff had to stay there two days before they were rescued.

OGLE CO. SCHOOLS CLOSED TODAY FOR CHIEF'S FUNERAL

Services for John Edgar Cross Held in Oregon Today

All schools in Ogle county were closed today to give teachers and pupils an opportunity to attend the funeral of John Edgar Cross, County Superintendent of Schools, who died at his home in Oregon Saturday night as reported in Monday evening's Telegraph. Services were held in the Coliseum in Oregon, Rev. F. L. Austin, pastor of the Church of God, with which Mr. Cross had been affiliated for many years, delivered the eulogy and members of the Oregon lodge, I. O. O. F. were in charge of the services at Riverside cemetery, Oregon.

Born in Ogle County

Mr. Cross was born in Pine Rock township, Ogle county February 1, 1861, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Cross, pioneer residents of that vicinity. His marriage to Miss Nellie Booth, also of Pine Rock, occurred November 2, 1877.

Educated in county schools, Mr. Cross in early manhood selected teaching as his profession. He acted as superintendent of schools at Creston, Chanay and other districts in the county before being named as assistant county superintendent under Miss Anna B. Champion in 1907.

Elected in 1910

In 1910 he was elected county superintendent, an office he has filled continuously since that time having been re-elected three terms without opposition. Failing health caused his decision to retire at the end of the present term.

Mr. Cross' reputation as an educator extended far beyond the boundaries of his county.

At the head of schools in a rural district when the consolidated and community high school laws were enacted, it was his duty to assist directors in mapping out districts, a post that required most intimate knowledge of local conditions and considerable tact to keep peace among factions. The high standard of schools now found in Ogle are largely due to his individual efforts.

Young Teachers' Friend

So close was the contact between Mr. Cross' office and each school in the county that the superintendent knew each instructor personally.

The younger teachers in the county always found in him a competent advisor and staunch friend. Friends remonstrated with him in vain to prevent his working on a schedule that frequently consumed 15 hours each day for weeks in making tours of the county. His enthusiasm over his work finally resulted in a breakdown in health that had been apparent for the past two years, although Mr. Cross remained on duty until early in July.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are three children, Clarence of Tilton, Wis., Mrs. Ward Scott of Lockport, and Mrs. Roland Stillson of South Bend, Ind.

Women's Physical Work Starts Well

The Women's Department of the local "Y" opened its activities for the season last evening in a way that cannot spell anything but success. The whole building was used with three different girls' clubs meeting for supper, a large ladies' meeting was being held in the parlors while at the same time the gym floor was well filled and swimming classes were being carried on in the pool.

Mrs. C. M. Yohn in charge of the Women's Department this morning stated that the classes yesterday were more than twice as large as she had anticipated and during the classes there were some splendid material for representative basket ball teams.

Girls' Hi-Y Club Elected Officers

The Girls' Hi-Y Club met last evening for their first meeting of the year and elected the following officers:

President—Alberta Petersen.
Vice President—Ethlyn Schrock.
Secretary—Fern Wallace.
Treasurer—Mildred Pettit.
Faculty members—Miss Velma F. White, Mrs. Freva Larier, Miss H. Cleary, Miss Clara White, Miss Edith Heblie.

Two important matters were brought up. First was that all applications for membership must be written and handed in to one of the faculty members. These applications will be investigated by the Executive Committee and the faculty members before they are voted on by the club and in the considering of new members the club standard will be used as guides more than ever. These standards are, clean speech, clean scholarship, clean athletics and clean living.

ship, clean athletics and clean living. Another matter was an Older Girls' Conference which the club is planning to hold within the next few weeks. Delegates will be invited from the two higher classes of high schools in this vicinity as well as representatives from the Girls' Hi-Y Clubs of Rock Island and Peoria. This will be the first Older Girls' Conference so far as the local leaders know that has been held by girls' clubs.

BAND REHEARSAL WED.

The Boys' Band will meet for the regular practice tomorrow evening at the "Y" at 7:30. A full attendance is requested.

REAL HAYMAKER Record Per Acre Shows Alfalfa Tops The List

Of America's two premier hay crops—alfalfa and red clover—alfalfa is the more desirable for the average farm, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, which is co-operating with bankers, business men and farmers in the organization of 10,000-Acre Alfalfa Clubs in many communities. The superior yields, production of protein-rich feed and income from alfalfa, make it so. In 1925 alfalfa produced an average of 2.61 tons of hay per acre, containing 553 pounds digestible protein. During the same year, red clover yields were 1.35 tons per acre with a production of 205 pounds of protein. At recent prevailing prices paid farmers, alfalfa hay brought $35.86 an acre as compared to $19.90 for an acre yield of red clover hay.

THE FADE OUT

It's kinda strange, but the scenes do change as the seasons swing about. The bright wears down and the dark comes 'round, when the summer's fadin' out.

The blossoms fade that perfume the air hang their heads as the days grow chill. The stems bend low. Nature lets them go in the frost that comes to kill.

The atmosphere doesn't seem so clear. Their are heavy clouds on high.

You can feel the call of the coming fall, when the summer's passin' by. It's the brisk and keen air that kills the green. Makes the great outdoors seem dead. Things that once were bright sorta drift from sight. There's a somberness instead.

Yea, we bid goodbye, an' we sorta sigh, but the future's not so black. We can always know that, though summers go, they are always coming back.

CLUB LIFE IS DECLINING.

Club life is declining, the decline probably being another change traceable to the automobile. That is largely true in the United States, although one writer in London attributes the decline in that city to the hotels with their new offerings.

The poor man's club may have gone out, but the rich man's club has been going with it, and both the rich man and the man who used to be poor are spending their time in picture theaters and on the hard roads, if not listening over the radio.

If the decline in club life were peculiar to the United States, it would be possible to attribute the change to prohibition, but Sir Sidney Lowe, writing in the Continental edition of the London Daily Mail, finds things quite different also along the Pall Mall.

"Thirty or forty years ago everybody who was anybody in London belonged to a club," he wrote. "If he was really somebody, he belonged to two or three, and if he was a nobody, he spent toil and trouble, often without success, to get himself elected to one of the more esteemed circles.

"Men—for at that time women were rigorously and jealously excluded—struggled and intrigued to pass through these select and guarded portals, even as their wives did to receive cards for the smartest receptions and balls. Membership was a privilege not lightly accorded.

"In these latter days there is hardly a club that can afford to be so exclusive. Nowadays the smoking room is apt to be a dreary apartment. Members sit about, puffing at their solitary pipes and cigarets or clumsily reading the newspapers.

"The younger members are mostly not there. If it is summer afternoon they are out in their cars; and in the evening there are dances, dinner parties, theaters and other things more entertaining than the rather dull society of their own unexhilarating sex."

It is indicated that the clubs that have caught the new spirit and have their convenient restaurants and tea rooms to which ladies may be admitted are carrying on successfully. They have large memberships and are more like the modern hotel in their public uses.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

TROUBLE AVERTED

John Meredith got up out of his chair with a bound. To anyone who only saw him above the table, he had the lithe grace of a trained athlete. So quickly he turned around, however, that he knocked down a waiter who was just setting down before him a covered dish from off a crowded tray.

The man fell prone to the floor and the dishes and dessert went sliding toward the other tables where there was a general upheaval.

Of course it made a great clatter and attracted the attention of everyone in the dining room. Women screamed and drew up to even shorter length their dainty dresses and men swore under their breath and scrambled over to our table.

Jerry, hearing the noise, came in from the office with the other men and ran impulsively over to our table. "What is the matter?"

"Is it a fight?"

"Those were some of the excited words that one divided into phrases as they hung above the din and cry of everyone in the restaurant."

Jerry, taking the whole thing in quickly, and seeing that if something was not done there was liable to be a regular mob, clambered up on a table and holding up his hands called out: "Ladies and gentlemen, please be seated. There is no fight. No one is angry. Nothing has happened except that Mr. Meredith, in getting up suddenly from his chair, inadvertently knocked over a waiter with a loaded tray in his arms."

"No one is hurt, not even the waiter."

A man from the other end of the room spoke up: "Hello Jerry Hathaway. Who made you master of ceremonies? Don't you know any better than to break up the dishes and maim the waiters in your own father's establishment?"

"You go way back and sit down, Jimmie. You know very well there is no booze ever served in this restaurant."

There was a general laugh at this as the company sat down.

"What really did happen, Judy?" asked Jerry, as he dropped into the chair beside me. "I heard a noise as though the whole house were coming down and ran in to see everybody very much excited."

"I was so thoroughly angry that I forgot to be diplomatic and answered, 'Nothing, except that bouncer that your father keeps around here, came over to our table while you were out and insulted Joan. Her brother just got enough to enrage him and jumped up to go over and knock him down."

THE motor car industry was startled when Buick presented the new Buick with an engine vibrationless beyond belief.

If you have driven this great new car, with this remarkable engine, you know why.

Its fluid smoothness makes other motor cars seem rough, harsh, noisy.

People who have driven Buicks for years and people who have owned much more expensive cars, are captivated by the luxury of this one.

TWO HOTEL FIRES TOOK HEAVIEST TOLL THIS YEAR

Fire Prevention Week Calls Attention to Tragedies

The two fires involving the greatest loss of life this year occurred in hotels. The first of these was in a Pennsylvania city last winter and caused the death of fourteen persons. The second occurred in July in a resort hotel in the Catskill Mountains of New York. Thirteen persons were killed and many seriously injured in this fire.

Fire prevention week calls to mind the importance of safeguarding hotels against fire dangers. In a recent bulletin, the Insurance Department of the United States refers specifically to an activity which might profitably be undertaken in every community some time during this week. Referring to the work of the fire prevention committee of a West Virginia chamber of commerce last Fire Prevention Week, the bulletin states that an inspection of all local hotels was made and their fire extinguishers tested by the committee. Some of these were found to be useless and were immediately replaced. All others were recharged and the hotel employees were instructed in their use. While it is true that many serious hotel fires occur in resorts due to inferior construction, inadequate protective facilities and such hazards as accumulation of rubbish, obsolete heating facilities and improper electric wiring, numerous others occur in cities as indicated by the Pennsylvania fire mentioned above. Special attention should be paid to the construction of hotel buildings, particularly with reference to the enclosure of stairways and elevators, the erection of fire walls and provisions for exit facilities. Standpipe systems and chemical extinguishers are important fire protection features which should be provided.

Progressive hotel men are alive to the importance of safeguarding against the dangers of fire. Automatic sprinkler systems have been installed in a number of hotels, including some of the Pennsylvania fire mentioned above. Special attention should be paid to the construction of hotel buildings, particularly with reference to the enclosure of stairways and elevators, the erection of fire walls and provisions for exit facilities. Standpipe systems and chemical extinguishers are important fire protection features which should be provided.

IN NEW YORK

New York—Signs of approaching winter in Manhattan:

Announcement in the newspapers of the Sunday night "concerts."

Which are somewhat carelessly disguised exactions of the metropolitan "blue law."

Theatrical performances on the Sabbath are not tolerated, though movies may go merrily along.

Headliners of vaudeville and the stage are secured and appear in "concerts," which are allowed.

Showing that anything can be bootlegged, including amusement.

The oyster peddlers on the east side.

Oysters at one cent each.

All you can eat and plenty of diners.

The increasing number of sweet potato vendors.

Theatrical rehearsals in almost any vacant hall and theater building.

Actors looking as though they had landed a job.

And waffle makers in the restaurant windows look busier.

Commuters moving in from Connecticut and way states.

Backyard garden cafes begin to pack up and move indoors.

Particularly in Greenwich Village.

No city in America likes to eat outdoors more than Manhattan.

And just now the very "arty" paintings that adorn the back fences begin to look like the scenery of a successful theatrical road show.

Those pathetic window boxes with their scraggly geraniums begin to give up the ghost.

Ah, me, winter is not far off!

One of the sprightly night clubs hired as an entertainer a certain Hindu mental telepathist.

He goes from table to table, answering the questions of guests and reading their minds.

Good Thoughts for Good People

Mankind's longing for freedom from restriction of thought, speech, and action is as old as the human race. Every mortal has an instinctive love of freedom, an inherent desire to live his life in accordance with his highest sense of right, and to give expression to his highest ideals, however far from true idealism his concepts may be. While men may be politically free, governing themselves through the common will, yet they may remain in bondage to the most relentless master of all, the bondage of material sense, the claim that life is material.

—The Christian Science Monitor.

Nations should be judged by their best; we are apt to judge them by their worst.—Dr. Harry Pratt Judson.

True liberty can exist only when justice is equally administered to all.—Lord Mansfield.

We must teach the nations of the world that they are all parts of one common whole; and that it is untrue, a devilish untruth, that there is any advantage to any one nation in the misfortunes or the poverty of others.

—Lord Robert Cecil.

No government can long endure unless its people are convinced that it is a righteous government.

—Calvin Coolidge.

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.

—Paul.

ST. LOUIS CITY OF UNCONFINED JOY OVER CARDS

Most of Night Given Over Over to Welcome to the Champions

BY BRYAN BELL

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Baseball mad, hoarse from cheering its beloved Cardinals, and with a weariness of limb that only a seat in a world series stand will satisfy, St. Louis today awaited game time with impatience. Mentally the city is in the pink of condition for the third game of the series with confidence oozing from every pore. Physically there is something lacking for many of the enthusiasts.

All of the late afternoon and much of the evening was given over to the singing of a baseball psalm by a choir of thousands of voices making up in volume anything lacking in harmony. Unfortunately many who cheered will not see the game today.

Many St. Louis fans believed that they also serve who only stand and wait and while their fellows were cheering Hornsby and his victorious crew, several hundred were forming a thin but determined line before the ticket window at Sportsman Park.

Stands Sold Out
Less than forty thousand persons can be crowded into Sportsman Park. The grandstand seats were reserved and sold in short order.

The enthusiasm of nearly two score seasons stored up in the 38 years of waiting for a pennant winner boiled over last night when the Cardinals came into their own. Rogers Hornsby brought the first championship team to St. Louis since 1888 and the citizens let him know that they appreciate it.

A dense mass of humanity paid tribute to the athletes until Hornsby, in self defense, called a halt and sent players to their homes and quiet.

In the meantime, the hives New York Yanks, who claim that they can take their pennants or leave them alone, asked what all the cheering was about and suggested that as the opposition in this conversation they must not be overlooked.

Manager Miller Huggins, although he took no part in the homecoming celebration, in moments of less stress, would be regarded as a citizen of St. Louis. He once managed these same Cardinals, now grown to championship proportions when the fans had less to cheer about.

SIDELIGHTS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Thousands of persons who traveled many miles to see the Cardinals and Yanks play the third game of the world series seemed doomed to disappointment today. There was not nearly enough space to go around at Sportsman Park.

"Grove Cleveland Alexander for mayor" was a sign displayed in a window during the Cardinal homecoming celebration last night. The matter of Alex's legal residence in Nebraska was evidently regarded only as a technicality.

Baseball Commissioner Landis spent his first two hours in St. Louis in marveling at the demonstration given the triumphant Cardinals and refusing requests of individuals and organizations to present gifts to the players on the field.

The Cardinals were made the favorites in betting with no New York money in sight in St. Louis, where to bet against the Cardinals is treason. Odds of 5 to 4 and 4 to 3 were being offered on Hornsby's men to win the series according to those supposed to know the situation.

Notre Dame Refuses Game With Harvard U.

Cambridge, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Notre Dame has declined an offer for a football game with Harvard next year, the Harvard Athletic Association reveals. Two eastern trips already had been arranged by Notre Dame when Harvard's offer was made.

The government of Australia has built more than 1000 homes, selling them to workers on a small weekly payment system.

NEW GOLF QUEEN FEARS SO MANY TOURNEY EVENTS

Hasn't Time to Play in All; Likes to be With Girls

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—(AP)—America's newly crowned golf queen, Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, dreads the innumerable calls that come to national champions for tournament play. Not that she has any fear of her game but because of pressing duties of a mother of two daughters, 18 and 16 years of age.

"Oh dear," said Mrs. Stetson, who today was one of the leading contestants for the Berthelmy cup in the tournament at Huntingdon Valley Country Club, "I do hope they won't expect me to go into a lot of tournaments now—just because I've won the national; I simply haven't time."

Mrs. Stetson said she was very fond of riding horseback, motoring with her daughters and working in her garden. "And," she added, "there is so much to be done about a house that I hardly ever find time even to read, which I love to do, to say nothing of playing golf as much as I would like."

Mrs. Stetson played one of the best rounds of her long golfing career yesterday in winning the qualifying medal in the Berthelmy tournament. Her 84 for the 18 holes was one under women's par for the course and five strokes better than her nearest competitor, Miss Glenna Collett, dethroned last week as national champion, took a 93, while Miss Virginia Wilson, who put the Providence girl out in the quarter finals of the title event, turned in a card of 91.

PETERS' PLAYING DRAWS ATTENTION OF ILLINOIS' FANS

More Enthusiastic Call Him "Successor to Galloping Ghost"

Urbana, Oct. 5.—Forrest Peters, who is much better known as "Frosty," may not be a second Grange but he has his points. This is the judgment of the University of Illinois football camp as Coach Bob Zuppke drills the Illini for the big homecoming game with Iowa Oct. 16, which is just a week from next Saturday.

"Frosty" started his collegiate athletic career under considerable disadvantage. Enthusiastic fans spread the words that he was a "successor to Red Grange." Of course, Zuppke and his aides frowned on this kind of talk but the tidings went about just the same.

Thus, when the lad from Montana started in his first game against Coe, he carried weight. But Peters seemed to be a cool-headed individual only concerned with the business at hand and his debut was decidedly promising. He has speed to burn and on top of it, a whole lot of fight as was shown when he shook off Coe tacklers on a dash for a touchdown.

"Frosty" made a world's record of 17 field goals, the greatest number in a single game, when he played with the University of Montana freshmen. The crowd at the Coe game readily saw how this happened. He dropped-kicked three goals after touchdowns with the utmost casualness. Once he had to reach up in the air and nab a bad pass from center but the ball soared true just the same. He missed a try after another bad pass when the ball rolled along the ground but he picked it up and made a good attempt. Let the Illini get to the 20-yard line this season and "Frosty" will do the rest, the fans predict.

For ten days before the Coe game Peters had been laid up with a sprained ankle. He has a lot to learn, of course, but give him two straight weeks under "Zup" and he should improve. "Cowboy" Nick Kutsch of Iowa has a year's experience but the Illini will bank a lot on "Frosty" at homecoming next week.

"Plenty of Iowa tickets still on hand," is the reassuring news from the football ticket office, despite the big daily sale this week.

Cubs Must "Do or Die" in Crucial Game Today

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The sixth game in the annual series between Chicago's major league teams today was a crucial test for the Cubs, the American Leaguers needing only the contest to win the city title carried off by the Cubs last fall.

Charley Root and Red Faber renewed their pitching duel yesterday and although Faber was relieved late in the game the White Sox won 3-1. The victory made the Sox three and two with their National League opponents.

The streets of New Orleans were cleaned recently by 400 tramps picked up within the city limits and detained as "white wings."

Chicago Clerk Approves Tanlac

Nervousness and Sour Stomach Following Diphtheria Ravaged Health.

"After a siege of diphtheria I was in such bad shape, so weak and run-down, that I thought I would never regain health," says Miss Viola Powell, 124 E. 26th St., Chicago.

"Food that I ate soured on my stomach. I could not exert myself without suffering from headaches and dizziness. I was so nervous that nights were just hours of thinking, restless turning and tossing. I never felt rested."

"Taniclax cleansed my system, gave me an appetite for food, relieved my stomach trouble and soothed my nerves. It has put me in the best of health and I enjoy life, both work and recreation."

Taniclax builds up scrawny, weak bodies, drives out causes of suffering and gives the body good health. Made from roots, barks and herbs. Take wonderful Tanlac. At your druggist's. Over 40 million bottles sold.

TEACHERS' ASSN. CONTINUES STUDY OF SCHOOL TAXES

Map in Headquarters Shows Inequalities of Tax Systems

The Illinois State Teachers Association has on file in its office in Springfield an interesting group of maps showing clearly why numerous small districts for school taxation and attendance have great differences in tax rates and in educational facilities. From a study of these maps they conclude that many mines and other large industrial plants pay little or nothing to support the schools attended by the children of the workmen in those plants.

For instance, a company manufacturing heating radiators has a large factory in a country school district near Litchfield. The numerous workmen in this factory live with their families in Litchfield. Therefore, Litchfield school district No. 83, must pay for educating the children of these workmen but receives no taxes from the factory. County school district No. 99 receives the taxes from the factory, but has very few pupils. One result is that Litchfield district, No. 83 must levy a school tax of $2.75 on the $100, while district No. 99 levies only 24 cents on the $100. This means that school taxes are 11 times as high in No. 83, which has the children, as in No. 99, which has the factory.

Pekin has a tax rate of $2.75 for elementary schools, a one-room district near it is crossed by several railroad tracks running into Pekin and has a rate of 27 cents—10 to 1.

Each morning about 5,000 miners go from Herrin to work in several large mines in other school districts and leave their children to go to school in Herrin. The results are that the mines pay little or nothing to support schools for the children of these miners, that tax rates are high and schoolrooms crowded in Herrin, and that this city can spend only about $37 per elementary pupil annually when the average for the State is $62.30. You cannot get a

Cadillac for a Ford price. Many similar cases are shown by other maps and authentic statistics. The teachers believe that a reasonable tax to support schools for the children of the workers in any industry is a legitimate charge against that industry; but they see little hope of applying this principle until there are larger and fewer school districts, or until a greater part of the cost of education is borne by the State, the county, or some territorial unit larger than the present little school district.

Farmers' Livestock Commission is Busy

More than one million dollars' worth of live stock was sold co-operatively for farmers in Illinois and ten other states at the Chicago market in September of this year by the Farmers Union Live Stock Commission, the live stock selling department of the Illinois Farmers Union, according to a report just issued by that farmers' organization. During the month 457 cars of live stock, containing 3,501 head of cattle, 18,819 hogs and 13,818 sheep, having a total value of $1,082,434, were sold for these farmers direct to meat packers, eastern shippers and other buyers. States contributing to these Farmers Union receipts in that month were Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, Indiana, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Utah, Idaho and Washington.

The total number of carloads of live stock received by this organization in September, this year, represents an increase of 25.9 per cent over the number received in the same month of last year. This increase is made up of a gain of 6.8 per cent in cattle, 24.1 per cent in hogs and 61.4 per cent in sheep, the report reveals.

KIND HEARTED! Burglar Was Down 'n' Out, So She Gave Him $14 and Let Him Go

NEA

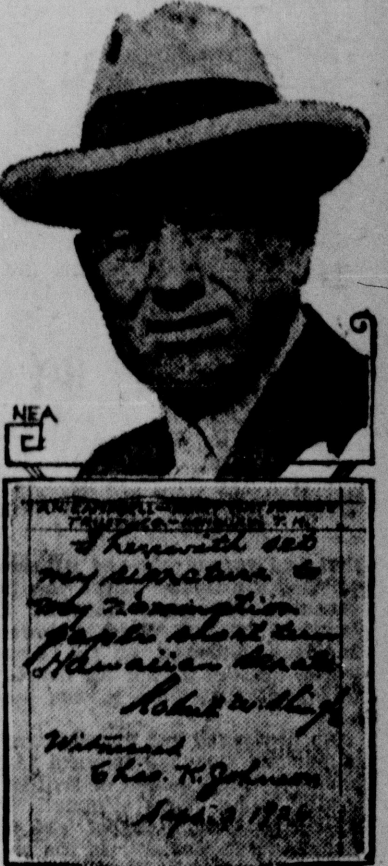

This is a cold, calloused age, but it has its kind hearts, at that. A burglar climbed through the window of Mrs. Nettle Jablonow's house in St. Louis one night, waking her up. Instead of yelling for the cops she listened to his story of being down and out, gave him $14 and let him escape by way of the kitchen, where he fixed himself a 2 a. m. breakfast. He thanked her very kindly.

Looking Down From "Big Ben"

This is the view—or part of it—that you'd get if you sat on one of the hands of the famous "Big Ben" clock on the tower of the British House of Parliament, London, and looked straight down. "Big Ben" is being repaired, and the photographer went up in advance to get picture of the hoist bringing up the workmen.

He was up in the air about us, too. It's war, Dan, war. Dan to the death between us and the bulls from this morning on!"

The other Cabinet members nodded savagely, and crowded closer; the skulking lay members began to stir around from all quarters, forming a dense circle of white. Dan was the intelligent, guiding center and nerve force. All of a sudden Dan began to laugh:

"Well, that's a good one. I picked out a swell day, when you boys is in the best of humors, to get O'Brien to put young Ford on this beat—Ford and that sharp toothed man—Mr. Murphy."

Meantime git out on the street and yeamtime Ford. Cripple that mutt of his. Hire taxis and run him down. Anything. A little action now. But be careful to work undercover. Beat it."

Presently Murtogh and his chief aides were left alone. Half a dozen perhaps. Him that was named "Black" first of all. "That one with the Killer Kid Twist," he called for his unusual dexterity at strangling people with a peculiar dislocating jerk that he had discovered by practicing on cats—and that left his human victims with characteristically arched necks. Next, "Black

CHAPTER 6

Jimmy subconsciously felt that the atmosphere about him was charged with suppressed uneasiness, with evil purpose, as he walked the streets this morning with Rinty faithfully pacing beside him. Streets bright with sunshine despite their tawdriness, their carelessness, smelly litter.

Those men and women who were going about their honest business looked at him with interest, at the dog with admiration, but at both with a sort of impersonal pitying.

Jimmy felt that one of two burly long-chinned fellows flung casual, friendly words at him.

"Watch your P's and Q's down in his neighborhood, young feller. The Busters is rough on new cops."

Jimmy took pride in this positive declaration of danger. He glowed delightfully under it as a healthy man might under a beautiful sun. And he liked the way Rinty constantly—the nervous, eager chatter of daredervish youth.

"Look there, Rinty. There's a bunch of hard ones. Kinda look as though they're waiting for us. I wonder if they belong to the Busters? Wish I knew all those rats by sight. Maybe I'll take a chance and order 'em outside of the deadline anyhow. At that rate, we ain't going to walk out of their way."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

CHERRY LANE, tiny, beautiful, is playing the love game with a dozen admirers, including BOB HATHAWAY, a young architect; old MR. CLUNY, her present employer; ALBERT ETTLESON, a married traveling salesman, and CHRIS WILEY, a man of bad reputation.

FAITH LANE, unselfish and womanly, is in love with Hathaway, who comes to Faith for comfort when he discovers that Chris Wiley is also making love to Cherry.

GEORGE FRUITT, rich amateur artist, proposes to Faith while the two are on a Sunday outing, but she refuses him. That evening Faith finds that Cherry has disappeared, taking most of her clothes with her. Before Faith can decide what to do, Mrs. Albert Ettleson, appears, and tells the Lane family that she has reason to believe that Cherry and Ettleson have met in Darrow, fifty miles away, and are eloping to New York.

Mrs. Lane suffers a severe heart attack and is near death. Faith summons Bob Hathaway, and he drives Faith to Darrow, breaking all speed laws, in time to board the limited to New York. A porter conducts Bob and Faith to the stateroom he thinks the runaways are occupying, and just as they reach it, Cherry's voice in a loud scream is heard.

CHAPTER XIX*NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

FAITH! Faith! Make him let me out! Cherry's voice, shrill, rising on the crescendo of a scream, was muffled suddenly, as if by a hand placed over her mouth.

"Let me there, Faith!" Bob Hathaway shouldered her out of the way, and flattened his body against the door of the stateroom. "Open the door, Ettleson! Open right now! We're going to hold this train till you do! Let that girl out, or you'll wish you had!"

There was the grating, hoarse sound of a hand on a door, and a rumbling at the inside of the locked door. As the lock gave, Hathaway pressed forward into the small room, his face mottled red with anger and exertion.

The tableau held for a moment—Cherry, her silk blouse torn open and half dragged from one shoulder, her topaz eyes wide with horror and fright, the knuckles of one clenched hand thrust into her distorted mouth, whose rouge was grotesquely smeared on upper lip and cheeks, her short copper-and-gold curls dragged forward across her forehead, as if brutal fingers had clutched them; her skirt twisted awry on her slippers, and, clutching low against a berth, a big, heavy man, in a peach-colored silk shirt and white flannel trousers, a monogrammed belt buckle pressing into his soft, bulging abdomen; his straight vase-lined black hair falling in dank strings over his blood-streaked forehead; his rage-reddened black eyes popping out of a fat, porcine face; his big, startlingly white teeth clamped over his lower lip; the bristles of his short black mustache standing out rigidly like the bristles of a black tooth brush. And in his rigid, out-thrust right hand a dark blue, snub-nosed, deadly automatic.

"Give me that gun, you damned fool!" Bob Hathaway spat the words at him.

Faith darted under his outstretched arm, into the crowded, narrow stateroom and flattened her body against his. For she knew that she loved him enough to take gladly any bullet that Albert Ettleson, crazy with fear, might aim at him.

"Faith! Faith!" Cherry's fear-ridden body came to life, brushed against the crouching form of the man she had run away with, flung itself into Faith's arms.

"Give me that gun, Ettleson!"

In his hand a deadly automatic.

There's not going to be any shooting of a kind. Faith! Make him let me out! Cherry's voice, shrill, rising on the crescendo of a scream, was muffled suddenly, as if by a hand placed over her mouth.

"Let me there, Faith!" Bob Hathaway shouldered her out of the way, and flattened his body against the door of the stateroom. "Open the door, Ettleson! Open right now! We're going to hold this train till you do! Let that girl out, or you'll wish you had!"

"Give me that gun, Ettleson!"

"Tricked! God, that's good!" Albert Ettleson hitched his white flannel trousers higher upon his soft belted waist. "I'm the bird that's been tricked. I'll tell the world! Played me for a sucker, she did! Scheming little hussy! She didn't have no intention of coming clean with me—the little—"

"That'll be about enough, Ettleson!" Bob Hathaway seized one of the man's big arms and twisted it cruelly, so that Ettleson writhed with pain and spat foul curses at him.

"Get your things into your bag, Cherry, and put on your coat and hat," she said in a curiously matter-of-fact voice. "Mama's sick. She wants you to come right home. I told her you were visiting a friend over here."

"Well, what are you going to do?" Albert Ettleson rose to his full height, stiffly, as if he had been half paralyzed. He peering black eyes had not left Bob Hathaway's face.

"Not a damn thing now!" Bob Hathaway said with grim regret in his even tones. "For two reasons—you've got a mighty decent wife waiting for you in the Cooper Hotel, and if I killed you—as I would thoroughly enjoy doing, you fat swine—I'd kill this girl's mother, too. But if you ever show your ugly, bloated face in this neck of the woods again, I'll damage it so your wife won't know you. And I don't mean may be."

"Did he hurt you, Cherry—darling, darling?" Faith's queer matter-of-factness had melted into tears, as she watched her trembling sister hide the torn, ravaged blouse under the smart little coat, and adjust the moxy little brown velvet hat to the mauled copper curls without a glance into the strip of mirror between the windows.

"No," Cherry quivered. "I didn't mean—Faith, I wasn't going to be bad; honest, I wasn't! He tricked me, Faith!"

Various European capitals. Dervieux was recognized by a detective the day he arrived here and from that time on his every movement was watched. The Frenchman visited many towns and held out the bait of high wages to get girls to go to Paris, where he said scores of positions were open. Finally as Dervieux was arranging for 62 girls to depart on a single train, he was arrested. It then developed that he had also promised marriage to seven of his intended victims.

Faith could stand it no longer, ran blindly to the living room, where Hathaway was waiting to take her to the hotel where poor little Mrs. Ettleson was waiting for news.

"I can't stand it, Bob!" She flung an arm across her streaming eyes. "I'm sick of lying—for Cherry! But what can I do? Oh, Bob, what can I do?"

"Cherry her off as quick as you can!" Again Bob Hathaway put his arm around her shoulders. "I believe she's engaged to me, among others."

Faith whirled out of the comforting circle of his arm and stared at him, dumb with astonishment.

he was going to lend me the money for my things and for a trip to New York! I didn't agree to travel with him! I swear I didn't! Believe me, Faith! Oh! Oh! I want to go home! I want Muggy!"

"All right, Cherry, darling! We're going to take you home! Don't cry, dear, Bob has his car. We're going right now."

"Can't hold this train all day!" the conductor bawled at them from the aisle, summoned there by the fear-stricken porter. "Wanta make a charge against this man, Mister!" he tugged at Bob Hathaway's sleeve.

"No," Bob answered shortly. "No. Let him go. No serious damage done, thank God! Come on, Faith—and you," he scarcely glanced at Cherry. Stooping, he picked up her heavy suitcase, and strode down the aisle with it.

"That awful man!" Cherry shuddered, when Bob Hathaway's car was again headed toward home—and safety. "Oh, Faith, darling, you and Bob came just in time! He was—awful! I never dreamed—I thought he was a perfect gentleman. Honest, I did, Faith! I'd have killed myself before I'd have let him—"

"Shut up!" Bob commanded her sternly.

"Bob!" Cherry began, piteously, reaching out a hand that gleamed ghost-white in the darkness. "Don't you—don't you—love me—any more?"

"Oh, for God's sake, hush!" His voice was like the lash of a whip across her face. She drew back, moaning.

"Don't be too hard on her, Bob!" Faith pleaded huskily. "She's been taught a terrible lesson. I don't believe she meant any harm—really—"

"Of course you don't," Hathaway said more quietly, as if he could not bear to lay the weight of an unkind word upon the gentleness of her love for Cherry. "But Ettleson was right. That's the reason—one reason—I didn't kill him or scramble his face for him. She tricked him, planned to work him for all he was worth and keep the only coin with which she could pay him back—her virtue. What's virtue like that worth—that's been bought and paid for but not delivered? Oh, God!"

Cherry sobbed herself to sleep during the last ten miles, and had to be shaken gently, like a limp child, when the car drew up at the curb before the Lane house in Myrtle Street.

Her round, sleep-flushed face was as innocent as a baby's when she walked into her mother's room. Faith, behind her, clenched her hands with futile anger at the cool, sweet music of her solitude as she bent over the stricken woman whose eyes blared open suddenly, then filled with a very glory of love.

CANCER GAINING IN MORTALITY IN STATE; HIGH RATE

Thirty-Six Lee County People Victims of Malady in 1925

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 5th.—Mortality from cancer took another definite upward swing in Illinois last year, according to 7,283 deaths against 7,001 in 1924. The rate per 100,000 rose from 101 to 104, the highest point ever recorded for this disease in the State. The fatality figures for 1925 are nearly three times those for 1905, the earliest year for which statistics are available, while the rate in 1902 was only 61 per 100,000. These statements are based upon the annual mortality statistics released today by Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, State health director.

"Cancer has embarked upon a phenomenal rise in prevalence unequalled in recent years," said Dr. Rawlings in discussing the report, "which has brought it up in a quarter of a century from seventh to second place among the ten most important causes of death. With its 7,283 victims last year only heart disease killed more people in the State than cancer. This record brings the fatal disorder into a health problem of the first magnitude.

"In municipalities with 10,000 or more people, with a combined population of 4,236,772 the mortality from cancer was 111 per 100,000 last year while the rural districts with a total population of 2,728,178 had a rate of 94.5. The reason for this is more likely a concentration of hospital facilities in cities than a freedom of cancer among rural residents. Another factor involved in the variation of cancer rates is age. This malady is far more likely to attack those past middle life than those younger.

"For the 23 most northerly counties in the State, with a total population of 4,676,000, the mortality from cancer last year was 114 per 100,000. In the 34 central counties with 1,170,000, the rate was 100, while for the 35 southern counties with 1,004,000 people it was only 80. No satisfactory reason has yet been given for this marked geographical preference of the disease in this State.

"Cancer is neither incurable nor inevitable. The chief factor in control is early diagnosis. This can be brought about by frequent examinations by physicians to discover cancerous conditions while they are still amenable to treatment.

"If all those who are about to enter the middle age group were to begin the habit of periodic health audits by competent physicians and would take seriously the advice they get, the cancer mortality would make a sudden
